INTRODUCTION

This report summarizes expenditures reported by school districts in relation to the nine authorized areas of activities designated by the 2016-17 Safe Schools Proviso Language. Additionally, it captures information on school resource officers serving in district schools. Lastly, the report provides data on efforts to offer prevention education to Florida students.

History and Background

The funding allocated for the Safe Schools Program dates back to the 1983-84 school year. In 1986, the Florida Legislature enacted the Florida Safe Schools Act. During this time, funding was based solely on the juvenile crime index which disproportionately went to large urban school districts. This method of allocation continued through the 1992-93 school year. The Florida Safe Schools Act was then unfunded for several years and rescinded by the 1997 Florida Legislature.

In 1994, the Florida Legislature funded safe schools activities through proviso language in the General Appropriations Act. This funding has continued each year into the present (see Appendix A—Safe Schools Appropriation Proviso Language). The purpose of the funding is to provide resources for activities to keep schools safe. The formula for determining district funding is based on county crime index and FTE. Each school district receives a minimum of $62,660 from the Safe Schools Appropriation fund. The balance of the fund is then distributed among the districts, with two-thirds based on the latest official Florida Department of Law Enforcement Crime Index and one-third based on each district's share of the state's total unweighted student enrollment.

Data for this report were collected via a survey of each school district conducted during January 2018, through the Safe Schools Appropriation, Survey of Activities. Although Developmental Research Schools receive Safe Schools Appropriations, expenditures for these schools are managed through the university system, not the Florida Department of Education (FDOE); therefore, information about those expenditures are not included in this report.

SAFE SCHOOLS APPROPRIATION DISTRICT EXPENDITURES

The Safe Schools Appropriation has been a major source of funding for school districts to implement and enforce school safety and security programs and initiatives.

The 2016-17 Proviso Language authorizes school districts to spend funds in any or all of nine categories, as reflected in Table 1. The column labeled “Flexibility Provision in Classroom Instruction” refers to the K-20 Flexibility Act (s. 1011.62\(6\)\(b\), F.S.) whereby districts can use certain categorical funds, including Safe Schools Appropriations, for academic classroom instruction.

Table 1 provides a breakdown of district expenditures of the Safe Schools Appropriation for school year 2016-17.

*Jefferson County School District reports that the district spent $51,640 of their allocated Safe Schools Appropriation in two of the allowable categories and $35,311 in Flexibility Provision for Classroom Instruction. These figures differ from those that were reported by the district to the FDOE, Office of Funding and Financial Reporting. Jefferson County School District shared that the report originally submitted by the district to FDOE was incorrect.

Table 2: School Resource Officers and Law Enforcement Officers

Table 2 shows the number of School Resource Officers (SROs) and Law Enforcement Officers (LEOs) serving at each school level, as well as the number of schools that the SROs served. Some SROs served more than one school. On this table, districts were advised that if one SRO served more than one school, that officer should be counted only once, but the total number of schools served should be tallied and provided. This table accounts for SROs reported by the district and may or may not include SROs funded by other sources of revenue in addition to Safe Schools Appropriations.

Table 3 is a breakout of the varying funding sources used to pay for SROs and LEOs. Throughout the state, most school districts collaborate with law enforcement agencies to provide SROs, LEOs and other security personnel for the district schools. These salaries are paid through a variety of funding sources. By far, most of the salaries for SROs and LEOs were funded by Safe Schools Appropriations. The second largest funding source was the county sheriff departments. Twelve districts spent over one million dollars of Safe Schools Appropriations for SROs and LEOs during the 2016-17 school year.

RESPONSES TO SURVEY QUESTIONS

The Safe Schools Appropriation Survey included additional questions related to safety activities that a district may undertake. The data presented on Tables 4 and 5 reflect responses to these questions.

Table 4 provides district responses when asked to identify the types of prevention instruction (not including a one-time presentation) delivered to students by SROs.
