M/J Art Appreciation 1, 2 & 3 Series

Davis Publications, Inc.

Art and the Human Experience, Katter & Stewart, 2001/1st

Committee Comments or Notations: Committee recommends for 0100000 M/J Art/Art Appreciation 1, 0100010 M/J Art/Art Appreciation 2 & 0100020 M/J Art/Art Appreciation 3 and 0104000 M/J Exploring Art, 0104010 M/J Experiencing Art, & 0104020 M/J Emphasizing Art. Texts may be used as a series or interchangeably.

Approach: The program is based on the research that demonstrates that art is inescapably linked to the experience of being human. As humans across time and place have sought ways to understand the world and their place within it, they have created objects and rituals to assist them. The series draws upon the activities and inclinations that humans have in common, and makes the connection between those commonalities (universal themes or enduring ideas), and the art that people have made in the past and continue to make in the present. The content is based upon knowledge in the various disciplines of art (art production, history, criticism, and aesthetics). Instruction builds upon student learning, as students learn to perceive, think, talk, and write about art they encounter – their own artworks, those made by their classmates, and those created by others throughout the world and over time. The instructional approach assumes the importance of Multicultural and Global Content, Content Knowledge, Disciplined Inquiry, Learning for Life, the Importance of Inquiry, and the Importance of Creating an Environment for Learning. Reading and writing strategies and cross-curricular content are infused throughout the program.

Recommended for: Art and the Human Experience, a Grade 6-8 Art Program, is designed to provide concrete, meaningful, and substantive connections through art across the curriculum while helping middle school students express themselves and explore their place in the world. Carefully designed to meet the unique needs and interests of the middle school student, Art and the Human Experience demonstrates that art is an important part of being human. Each of the three books in the program features dazzling images, including contemporary images, multicultural and student artworks. Authentic and engaging studio experiences, in-depth coverage of the elements and principles of design, vibrant timelines and maps, comprehensive coverage of art's forms and media, and painstaking attention to National and State standards make this program rich, up to date, and relevant.

Art: A Global Pursuit focuses on messages, identity and ideals, lessons, order and organization, daily life, place, nature, continuity and change, and possibilities. Correlates closely with World History.

Art: A Personal Journey focuses on the artist as a storyteller, recorder, designer, teacher, interpreter, messenger, inventory, planner, and pioneer.

Art: A Community Connection focuses on telling, living, belonging, connecting to a place, responding to nature, changing, celebrating, making a difference, and looking beyond. Correlates closely with American History.

Suggested Instructional Time: 1 year/text

M/J Art Appreciation 1, 2 & 3 Series

Glencoe/McGraw-Hill

Introducing Art, Exploring Art & Understanding Art, Ragans, et al, 2007/3rd/4th/4th

Committee Comments or Notations: Committee recommends for 0100000 M/J Art/Art Appreciation 1, 0100010 M/J Art/Art Appreciation 2 & 0100020 M/J Art/Art Appreciation 3 and 0104000 M/J Exploring Art, 0104010 M/J Experiencing Art, & 0104020 M/J Emphasizing Art. Texts may be used as a series or interchangeably.

Approach: Glencoe's Introducing Art is designed to align with Florida's Sunshine State Standards for the Art Appreciation 1 course of study. The program presents an effective balance of the five major conceptual strands of art education: skills and techniques; creation and communication; cultural and historical connections; aesthetic and critical analysis; and applications to life.

The Student Edition provides comprehensive content in a clear, engaging narrative format. Informative lessons guide students in developing fundamental art appreciation skills by strengthening perception, observation, understanding of imagery and visual language, and critical thinking and analysis. The text also presents diverse historical and cultural perspectives, prompting students to explore art and artists from different eras and cultures. Studio activities and lessons help students gain competence in using a variety of media, technology, and processes in a safe, responsible, and appropriate manner. In addition, the text engages students in examining connections between visual arts and other subject areas; personal benefits of art education; and career opportunities in art. Assessment questions and activities appear in each lesson and at the end of each chapter; these questions and activities reinforce the key concepts that are aligned to the Florida Art Appreciation 1 course of study.

The Teacher Wraparound Edition presents point-of-use strategies and activities to focus, teach, and assess instruction to meet the expectation of covering the required standards for the Florida Art Appreciation 1 course of study. Reading and writing strategies are integrated throughout the text, offering practice before, during, and after the chapter presentation. Learning objectives for each chapter and lesson are included to assist in tracking and assessing student achievement. The activities and strategies provided in the comprehensive lesson plans are accessible to students of all ability levels, including those with special needs. The text also offers opportunities for differentiated instruction, interdisciplinary connections, community involvement, and career preparation—all of which enrich student learning.

Recommended for: Intended for use by students in grades 6–8

Pearson Education, Inc., publishing as Pearson Scott Foresman

Scott Foresman Art (M/J), Robyn Montana Turner, 2005/1st

Committee Comments or Notations: Committee recommends for 0100000 M/J Art/Art Appreciation 1, 0100010 M/J Art/Art Appreciation 2 & 0100020 M/J Art/Art Appreciation 3 and 0104000 M/J Exploring Art, 0104010 M/J Experiencing Art, & 0104020 M/J Emphasizing Art. Texts may be used as a series or interchangeably.

Approach: Scott Foresman Art is a comprehensive, balanced, and sequenced art program that is standard-based. The grade 7 program has six thematic units that incorporate the elements of art, principles of design, art media and techniques, creative process, styles in art history, and careers in art. Students develop skills and learn techniques in art, create art, and communicate through art while learning about cultural and historical connections. In Scott Foresman Art, students will explore a wide variety of artworks from various cultures and time periods and experience studios that sequentially build knowledge and skills. Studios for drawing, painting, printmaking, sculpture, fibers, photography, architecture, or computer art are introduced in a developmentally appropriate manner. Throughout the program the Meet the Artist feature provides role models and information for students about the contributions of artists.

Each lesson in Scott Foresman Art introduces art concepts in context illustrated through examples of fine art. Lessons feature a variety of art and are followed by studio activities that apply the concepts of the lessons through engaging and accessible art production activities. Each studio includes visual and verbal support for students to create their own original artworks. Throughout the program, students develop aesthetic and critical thinking abilities through discussion and critique while learning to apply the concepts of art in the world around them.

Scott Foresman Art provides a variety of culminating projects for assessment and self-reflection along with formal and informal assessment activities. This comprehensive and balanced art curriculum inspires students with master artworks and supports creative efforts with sufficient visual and verbal support to assure success for all students.

Recommended for: Scott Foresman Art is a comprehensive art program for grade 6 that meets the needs of all students in the state of Florida. Students have different learning modalities and Scott Foresman Art provides for each.

Suggested Instructional Time: 1 year/text
