

HOW TO GET A BACHELOR'S DEGREE AT A COMMUNITY COLLEGE CAMPUS

Location shouldn't be a barrier for place-bound students wanting to pursue a bachelor's degree. Florida students can take upper-level courses in over 400 programs located on community college campuses. These programs enable students to remain on a community college campus and receive the upper-level instruction they need to complete a bachelor's degree. Chipola College, Daytona Beach Community College, Edison College, Miami- Dade College, Okaloosa-Walton College, and St. Petersburg College have all received authority to offer their own bachelor's degrees in certain areas. In most cases, however, the degrees are provided through a partnership between a community college and a public or private four-year institution. Some community colleges have even established an on-site "university center" through which students may receive academic advising, financial aid assistance, and other student services. Below are concurrent-use partnerships, bachelor or higher level, self- reported by community colleges as of April 2005 for the 2005-06 school year.

IMPORTANT: In order to provide the most accurate information to students, please be sure to check with the individual institution for program updates.

CHART SYMBOLS:

*Denotes baccalaureate degree offered directly by the community college, not through a partnering college/ university.
