

Update on Strategic Imperative Teams

Overall

The Strategic Team Leaders have been selected and have begun the process of forming their teams. To prepare for their work, they have met separately and as a group with the Accenture consultants. There have been two orientation meetings—one to review the data that supported each of the challenges and to become familiar with the overall strategic planning process, and a second to discuss and become familiar with a consistent approach to “leading the thinking” and “planning the effort.” At the time of printing, development of the workplan for completing the overall strategic plan is underway and will be presented to the Board.
