Chapter FFEA PSA Competition

USE OF COPYRIGHTED MATERIAL:

The video you submit for the Florida Future Educators of America's PSA competition must be an original work. No copyrighted material (music, images, etc.) or trademarks (company names, logos, brands, etc.) may be used unless you own or have a license to use the material for this contest. Written permission must be obtained and provided with your video submission for all copyrighted or trademarked materials.

Music purchased from Amazon or iTunes for listening DOES NOT include the rights to sync it up with your images and repackage it as a video. Those rights are called synchronization rights and commercial music sync rights are expensive. Some people assume that the use of commercial music for nonprofit or school use is 'fair use' and that is not true. The 'fair use' exception to copyright is rather limited and does not include a submission to the Florida Future Educators of America's PSA competition.

If you want to get permission to use copyrighted music, you can visit <http://www.copyrightkids.org/> to find out more about how to write a letter to make the request. The site includes sample letters and links to music publisher contacts. There are several sources of music for videos, some of which are free and others that have to be purchased.

Music you create yourself:

- Garage band — <http://www.apple.com/ilife/garageband/>
- Music generators — <http://www.anticulture.net/MusicGenerators.php>

Commercial music tracks that can be bought for use as background track:

- <http://www.aircraftmusiclibrary.com/>
- <http://www.killertracks.com/>

Creative Commons agreement music:

- <http://creativecommons.org/legalmusicforvideos>

Keep in mind that 'Creative Commons' licensing is not necessarily free music. There are usually attribution or credit requirements and the artists may specify what kinds of works their music may be used.
