Next Generation
Sunshine State Standards –
Health Education, 2021
History
The Sunshine State Standards were first approved by the State Board of Education in 1996 as a means of identifying academic expectations for student achievement in Florida. The Next Generation Sunshine State Standards were adopted in 2008, and a major revision was adopted in 2014.

2021 Standards Development Process
State Board Rule requires school districts to annually provide instruction to students in grades K-12 related to a variety of comprehensive health education topics, including substance use and abuse education and character development. All required health education topics should advance each year through developmentally appropriate instruction and skill building using the adopted health education standards found at cpalms.org.

A statewide team of experts created Character Education and Substance Use and Abuse Education standards that show what students should know and/or be able to do. These standards will provide the “what” students will learn, and then each school district will determine how the content is taught. The goal of adding these Character Education and the Substance Use and Abuse standards is to ensure educators and other school-based professionals are able to incorporate key character education and substance abuse prevention learning objectives into instruction.

Teams of educators, school counselors and school nurses developed these standards and benchmarks. Implementation will include training and resources to supplement the work of educators, including training for school-based student services professionals, who are critical to supplementing educators’ classroom efforts. The development team created standards and resources that will help ensure Florida’s students have all of the information they need to achieve their academic, career and life goals.
