

Applied Technology Diploma to Associate in Science or Associate in Applied Science Program Articulation

The chart below details the total number of college credits to be awarded toward the identified associate degree when a student completes an Applied Technology Diploma (A.T.D.) program at either a career center or Florida College System institution. Section 1007.23(4), Florida Statutes (F.S.), stipulates that every A.T.D. graduate must be granted the same amount of credit upon admission to an associate degree program unless it is a limited access program. Preference for admission must be given to graduates who are residents of Florida. Furthermore, in accordance with Rule 6A-10.024, Florida Administrative Code, A.T.D. programs shall have a guaranteed transfer period of up to three years following the A.T.D. award date. Applied technology diploma students entering an associate degree program shall meet the admissions standards as outlined in section 1007.263, F.S. Additional admissions requirements for limited access programs may be established by the Florida College System institution board of trustees.
