Monday, January 25	Class discussion about the meaning and message of our 2021 Florida Literacy Week theme: Humanity tells a story: What’s YOUR chapter? The purpose of a Who I Am story is to illustrate something about oneself; both character and action are important in this type of story. This is like a memoir - writing that is personal and tells important or significant events in person’s life. When we read personal narratives, we look inside ourselves, and sometimes we look outside and view a whole new world. Door Decorating Contest Readers SHINE!!!! Wear cool shades, a sun hat or a visor today!
Tuesday, January 26	Read aloud. A Civics story: Discuss personal, cultural, or historical aspects. Reread to understand facts, ideas, and/or perspectives. Students illustrate what was learned and include a dictated or written paragraph describing the illustration. On our Facebook page, parents will post pics of their child/ren doing various BINGO /Menu reading suggestions of how to celebrate literacy at home. Hats off to Reading! - Wear your favorite hat to school
Wednesday, January 27	FlipGrid: What’s Your Chapter? What’s your Connection? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Students choose a story with which they have made a connection. • Students create a FlipGrid in which they read a scene or page they feel connects to something in their lives. • Students then explain how that scene or page connects to an experience they are having or a human connection they have developed with someone in their lives. Show off your creative side- Wear Crazy Socks
Thursday, January 28	Students will continue working on their flipgrids. Guest Readers on TEAMS. “Reading about your past gives you superpower.” Wear a superhero shirt and/or a cape.
Friday, January 29	After a week of great reading, read some more and curl up with a good book! “Always remember to fall asleep with a dream and wake up with a purpose.” Wear pajamas.

Literacy Week Explanations

Literacy Week Introduction

Teachers will read the daily activities with your first class of the day. Digital teachers can show short recorded clip of literacy week events to students.

Currently Reading Sign

“I am currently Reading _____” signs will be posted outside of doors with the name of the book staff are currently reading. Digital teachers can upload the sign into their digital classes/outside their doors

Newspaper Entry Forms

Students will receive entry forms to showcase their poems, short stories, and art in February’s issue of the school newspaper

Intercom Read Aloud

Admin and noninstructional staff will read an excerpt from chosen literary pieces over the intercom during morning announcements. Students will be given a question to answer to voluntarily enter a chance to win a PBIS prize during the week. Digital teachers can play an audio recording of the read aloud and submit their responses to their teacher.

Character Scavenger Hunt

Students will be given riddles to locate certain characters “hidden” around campus. Literacy Week Explanations

Literacy Week Introduction

Teachers will read the daily activities with your first class of the day. Digital teachers can show short recorded clip of literacy week events to students.

Currently Reading Sign

“I am currently Reading _____” signs will be posted outside of doors with the name of the book staff are currently reading. Digital teachers can upload the sign into their digital classes/outside their doors

Newspaper Entry Forms

Students will receive entry forms to showcase their poems, short stories, and art in February’s issue of the school newspaper

Intercom Read Aloud

Admin and noninstructional staff will read an excerpt from chosen literary pieces over the intercom during morning announcements. Students will be given a question to answer to voluntarily enter a chance to win a PBIS prize during the week. Digital teachers can play an audio recording of the read aloud and submit their responses to their teacher.

Character Scavenger Hunt

Students will be given riddles to locate certain characters “hidden” around campus. Answers from students can be submitted to enter a chance to win a PBIS prize during the week. Digital teachers can input provided character icons into their lessons or in classroom areas visible to students online.
